

2010-09-13 15:30:22 by webmaster

13 SEP 2010

By Melanie Phillips  Daily Mail

Those of us who are troubled by Britain's loss of sovereignty to Brussels have always been aware that EU membership poses risks to our political health.

Even so, few could have foreseen that belonging to the European Union can literally kill you. Yet this now appears to be happening.

Cases have recently come to light of hospital patients dying needlessly because there was no junior doctor available to attend to them – principally as a result of EU-imposed rules.

Read entire article